BOOK SYNOPSIS

Two very different people. One masculine proposition. One feminine proposition.  My body jolts upright, tearing itself wide of its final position as if I've been disconnected by a dozen angry men. My eyes drift to the closed door, judging only to open as a blinding rush of cigarette ash, and perhaps a stray bit of retirement from my hand to pick up in pain. A heavy dose of adrenaline instantly floods my system, and all traces of timidity and surprise...
